

See it. Drop it. Tag it. Get a brief.

The Ideas bot turns "I love this ad" into a ready-to-use brief for our brand in about a minute. You find the inspiration, it does the busywork, you make the call.

TOO LONG, DIDN'T READ

1

Drop it

Paste a video, a link (TikTok, IG, Atria, Meta Ad Library), a screenshot, or just type the idea in the brand's -internal channel.

2

Tag it

Add @Mobius Digital and one line on what you like: "the hook", "the style", "as is", "for ambassadors".

3

Click where it goes

It replies with a short draft. One click sends it to the creator link, Asana or Studio.

What it's for

- Recreating a competitor's ad or format for our brand, fast
- Turning inspo into angles for ambassadors, affiliates and creators (TRYBE or anyone we brief)
- Quick Asana briefs for the designer, editor or high-production team
- Getting the boring part (teardown, scenes, copy, formatting) off your plate

What it's NOT for

- Replacing how we build our main briefs and strategy
- Brand new big swings or launches (that's still your thinking)
- Shipping without a read. You approve every draft.

Think of it as a fast junior strategist who never gets tired of formatting.

The three places a draft can go

Creator link

A new angle on the brand's ambassador page (TRYBE). Creators film from it. The inspo clip plays right on it. Lucky Golf: goes to the Lucky creator app instead.

Asana brief

A brief in the brand's Creative Brief column for our designer, editor or production team. Static or video.

Studio

An AI Studio batch in Locus, ready to make static ads with AI. (See the AI Studio guide.)

Where: the brand's -internal Slack channel (Lucky Golf: #lucky-ads). The channel tells it which brand. Normal chat is ignored and free; it only works when tagged.

What happens after you tag it

About a minute of work you'd normally spend rewatching, transcribing and formatting.
Here's what it does, in order.

Watches the video once

Writes down the hook, every scene, the words on screen, what's said, and any visual trick that grabs attention (a prop, a weird action, a text pop).

Reads your note and the whole thread

Your note always wins over its own guess. If you said "just the hook", it only takes the hook.

Pulls up the brand brain

Who buys this product, real customer words from reviews, the competitors, and what we've already tested and how it did.

Figures out why it works

The hook, the desire, how aware the viewer is, the proof. Then it decides the take: use as is, borrow the style or just the hook, and flags what NOT to copy.

Writes the draft for the best home

Picks creator link, Asana or Studio, and writes it short. If it's missing something important, it asks you 1 to 3 questions first.

WHAT YOU GET BACK

One short card

- The idea in a title and one line
- Who it's for and the opener
- Buttons to send it where you want
- Details button for the full teardown

The buttons on the card

Creator link (suggested) sends it to its best home (green = suggested)

Redo writes it again from scratch

Discard drops it

Want changes? Just reply in the thread ("make the opener funnier, use the travel pack") and tag it again. It revises without rewatching the video.

"I want our ambassadors to film this."

You saw a creator video from another brand that would work great for ours. You want it on our creator link so TRYBE creators can film it.

NIGHT OUT DEFENSE

The one thing I never skip

SAY THIS FIRST

"Everything in my bag tonight, and the one thing I never skip"

FILM THIS

- 1 Dump the bag, one line per item
- 2 Patch last, put it on, on camera
- 3 Next morning: "Sunday saved"

What lands on the creator link

- A new angle in the section you picked
- The inspo clip plays right on the page
- 2 openers, 3 scenes, 3 do's and 3 don'ts
- Short enough for a creator to get in 20 seconds

Then

- TRYBE creators see it and film it
- The Slack card shows a link to it plus an Undo button
- Lucky Golf: the button says Lucky creator app and posts it there live

"Make this static for our brand."

You found a competitor's static in Atria or the Meta Ad Library. You want the same idea for our brand, built by our designer, as an Asana brief.

 Dartee · Creative Brief

Brief 418 · Empty pockets, better rounds

Type

Static · concept test

Section

Creative Brief

Angle: The stuff in your pockets is costing you shots.

Why: Customers keep saying the same thing in reviews: tees and markers falling out, bulging pockets mid swing.

What we're testing: which picture of the problem stops a golfer.

1. Split screen: bulging pocket vs the belt
2. Top down: everything that fell out on the green
3. Close up: the marker snapping onto the belt

Headline: Empty pockets. Better rounds.

Every brief says

- Angle, why, what we're testing
- Numbered ads, one per line
- The test type (angle, concept or iteration)
- Headline and copy

Want AI to make it instead? Click Make Studio draft, then Studio. The ads wait in Locus Studio with your inspo image already attached. Pick the product, click Make.

"Recreate this video with our B-roll."

You saved a competitor's video. You want our editor (or high-production team) to rebuild it with the footage we already have.

3 WHAT IT MAKES

Lucky Golf · Creative Brief

Brief 233 · The roll test
 Type Video · concept test
 Creator None: B-roll + voiceover
Angle: A putter that starts the ball on your line.
What we're testing: a proof-first opener vs our talking-head opener.
Script:
 1. 0 to 3s: slow-mo ball rolling dead center. Text: "Watch the line."
 2. 3 to 10s: Eclipse face close up, VO on why it rolls true
 3. 10 to 15s: three putts in a row drop. End card + offer.
Headline: Your line. Every time.

Video briefs add

- A timed script, scene by scene
- Words on screen for each scene
- Who's on camera (or "B-roll only")
- What to keep from the original, what to drop

Want a creator to film it instead? Same post, just say "for creators". It writes it as a creator angle.

Keep this one open

What to write in your note

- "as is" copy the whole idea for our brand
- "the style" keep the look and format, new message
- "just the hook" only the first 3 seconds
- "for ambassadors" creator link / TRYBE
- "Asana, for the designer" static brief
- "video, for the editor" video brief, our footage
- "Studio" AI makes the statics
- "quick" faster, cheaper draft

What you can drop in

- A video uploaded straight to Slack (best)
- An Atria or Meta Ad Library link
- A YouTube link
- A screenshot of a static
- No link at all: just describe the idea
- A whole thread of back and forth: tag it at the end and it reads everything

TikTok and IG links: save the video and upload it to Slack.

Pick the right home

Creator link

Real people on camera, low production: TRYBE ambassadors, affiliates, creators.

Asana brief

Our team builds it: designer statics, editor videos with B-roll, high-production shoots, or creators we brief directly.

Studio

AI makes statics only in Locus. Your inspo image comes along. Videos go to the creator link or Asana.

How many ads it writes

Creator link

1 angle: 2 openers, 3 scenes.

Asana brief

3 to 5 ads, one per line.

Studio

3 to 6 ads, one per line (up to 12).

Want a set number? Just say it: "6 headlines", "2 videos".

Always read it before you send it. It's a strong first draft, not the final word. Your strategy and taste still decide.

Cost: about 15 to 20 cents an idea. Normal chat in the channel costs nothing.
